

Welcome To Our Practice

From the onset of your care with us you are assigned a provider within our group, this may be an MD or Midwife.

Our providers make every effort to be present in as many aspects of your care as possible from office visits to delivery. However, we cannot promise that your individual provider will always be available all the time.

In the event that your provider is unavailable at any time to provide care, another provider within the Overlake OBGYN Group will assume temporary responsibility for your care.

This could be on an occasion of an office visit, or perhaps the day of your delivery and our on call physician or midwife for that day will assume your care.

Overlake OBGYN is a group practice, staffed with both female and male providers. We cannot guarantee a specific provider when temporary responsibility for your care is assumed by someone other than your primary assigned physician within our group.

If for personal or cultural reason you prefer to not work with a specific provider, it is important that you notify us of that fact as soon as possible, so we can determine what option would be best for you.

Thank you and we look forward to caring for you and your baby.
